

Nurturing Responsible Children

Monday, January 7th and 14th: 6:00-9:00

This training will be held at the United Way

Shifting responsibility gently challenges children to begin working out and solving problems on their own. Participants will practice leading with an action question, allowing time and following with support as they interact with young children. This course has been updated to engage participants as they practice additional problem solving techniques.

In addition, participants will practice ways to communicate more effectively with children and families and issues related to problem solving and professionalism.

Participants need to attend the entire training to successfully complete the course. Upon successful completion, participants will receive a certificate for 6 hours of NYS OCFS approved training. Due to the large number of presentations, individual confirmation letters cannot be sent. If you provide an email address, I'd be happy to confirm that way, or please call to confirm your registration at 887-2713. Centers with 10 or more staff may schedule this training on-site (both evening and Saturday dates are available).
